About Lauren

Lauren is a conservative Republican who became the first mom to represent Colorado's 3rd District in the U.S. House after unseating a five-term incumbent in the primary and then, despite being outspent nearly 2 to 1, defeating her Democrat opponent in 2020.

She owned and operated Shooters Grill, a restaurant that earned national fame for staff who proudly open-carried as they served their customers.

She gained additional recognition in September 2019 by attending presidential candidate Beto O'Rourke's rally to tell him directly: "Hell, no, you won't take our guns."

Lauren is the proud mother of four boys. She is raising them to be strong, independent men who are proud to be Americans living in a country free of socialism and communism.

Before running for Congress, Lauren spent time as a volunteer, ministering to and mentoring incarcerated women at the Garfield County Jail. She was also the second-largest signature gatherer in the citizen-led effort to stop Colorado from joining the National Popular Vote Compact.

As a Republican candidate, Lauren is moving to Colorado's 4th Congressional District to continue the fight for our conservative values in Congress. Liberals have taken a wrecking ball to Colorado's western way of life, and it's time to fight back!

Lauren's Accomplishments

As Colorado's representative from the 3rd Congressional District, Lauren has dedicated herself to serving the needs of her constituents, defending our rural Colorado values, and helping build a conservative movement to take back our country and make America first again.
